 The story follows the journey of the US Women's Soccer team of the 1990s, who, in 1999, on a sweltering hot summer day, in a stadium bursting with 93,000 fans, won the World Cup in a nail-biting final against China. In doing so, the team captured the hearts and souls of millions around the world and effectively changed women's sports forever. Their journey ultimately paved the way for enhanced funding and recognition for women's soccer and led to the establishment of the North American women's soccer league. Secluded on a remote Greek island, retired assassin Julie (Keeley Hawes) has a somewhat thorny reunion with her estranged son, Edward (Freddie Highmore), visiting from England. Armed with questions around new information on his paternity, Edward battles to find the right time to speak to his frustratingly distant mother. But, when the moment finally presents itself, things take a deadly turn as Julie's dangerous past catches up with her and they are forced to flee the island and go on the run together. Edward's quest for truth clashes with Julie's secrecy whilst they are forced to work together in a fight for survival, testing their dysfunctional relationship to its limits. Amid uncovering a dark conspiracy they believe to be their only threat, a greater danger emerges that will destroy their relationship entirely. In a race against time, Julie fights to save Edward and salvage their relationship as past and present collide in a showdown across the globe. (January 2026 - June 2026)

Set in the vast and volatile world of Ancient Rome—an era yet untouched by the franchise—the new series plunges players into the political shadows of Nero’s early reign. As the young emperor tightens his grip on power, his famed tutor and advisor, Seneca the Younger, struggles to curb Nero’s darker impulses. When whispers of corruption, betrayal, and a mysterious hidden order begin to spread through the palaces and forums of Rome, a new assassin emerges from the fringes of the Empire. Tasked with uncovering a conspiracy that entwines Nero’s ascent, Seneca’s uneasy influence, and a plot that reaches from the imperial court to the city’s underbelly, the assassin must navigate shifting loyalties and deadly intrigue. Set between 54–68 AD, this chapter explores the birth of tyranny—and the blade poised to reshape history. (w/t “SIDEWINDER”)

Two years of stalking the streets as the Batman, striking fear into the hearts of criminals, has led Bruce Wayne deep into the shadows of Gotham City. With only a few trusted allies — Alfred Pennyworth, Lt. James Gordon — amongst the city's corrupt network of officials and high-profile figures, the lone vigilante has established himself as the sole embodiment of vengeance amongst his fellow citizens. When a killer targets Gotham's elite with a series of sadistic machinations, a trail of cryptic clues sends the World's Greatest Detective on an investigation into the underworld, where he encounters such characters as Selina Kyle/aka Catwoman, Oswald Cobblepot/aka the Penguin, Carmine Falcone, and Edward Nashton/aka the Riddler. As the evidence begins to lead closer to home and the scale of the perpetrator's plans becomes clear, Batman must forge new relationships, unmask the culprit, and bring justice to the abuse of power and corruption that has long plagued Gotham City.

Set in late-1970s Ireland, Bender is a raucous, yet deeply heartfelt coming-of-age comedy inspired by true events. Amid the papal frenzy that swept recession-hit Ireland when Pope John Paul II came to Galway, a group of teenage misfits chase identity, rebellion, and romance in a country still gripped by repression and religion. For Jules—an eyeliner-wearing new waver stuck between family turmoil and small-town gloom—the Pope’s visit might be his last shot at love, freedom, and self-discovery. Burr stars as Mo Kelleher, a gruff American record-store owner and musician whose mentorship of the young Jules becomes a catalyst for change. Their unlikely bond—formed over vinyl, sarcasm, and shared disillusionment—drives this hilarious and touching journey toward hope.

Grace (Brooke), a mother of a teenage boy, has made the decision in her 40's to leave her steady job as a social worker to join the Police Service of Northern Ireland. Having previously worked in social care she straddles a fine line between the personal and professional. It's the biggest gamble of her life, and just a few weeks into the job, she's making so many mistakes that her decision no longer looks like a winning bet. Her fellow rookies are Annie (Devlin), who struggles with the fact that her chosen path may mean having to leave everything she's ever known behind, and Tommy (Braniff), who is desperate to prove himself, despite being disastrously inept at the practical side of frontline response policing. All three are new police officers in their probation period with the PSNI, the odds are at least one of them isn't going to last. The pressure is immense, but if they succumb to it, they won't survive. Often the rookie officers don't know the extent of the peril they are in, or who they can trust. What's it like to have to hide your job from neighbors, friends and even family? How do you distinguish between who needs your help and who wants you dead simply because of the uniform you wear? The prequel series explores the origin story of Michael Connelly's detective Harry Bosch, portrayed by Titus Welliver on the original Bosch series and its sequel Bosch: Legacy. Monaghan will take over the role, playing rookie cop Harry Bosch, with Hardwick portraying his training officer, police veteran Eli Bridges. Bosch: Start of Watch, goes back to 1991 Los Angeles and follows 26-year-old Harry Bosch (Monaghan) during his earliest days as a rookie cop. The series will explore a city on the edge, teeming with racial tension, gang violence, and a fractured LAPD. Amid routine calls and growing unrest, Bosch finds himself drawn into a high-profile heist and a web of criminal corruption that will test his loyalty to the badge and shape his future as the detective who lives by the code, "Everybody counts or nobody counts."

In the new series, NYPD Officer Danny Reagan (Wahlberg) relocates to Boston to take a position with the Boston Police Department. There, he's partnered with Detective Lena Peters, the eldest daughter of a prominent law enforcement family. As Danny adjusts to his new surroundings, he finds himself drawn to this tightly knit community of civil servants—a family that echoes the values and bonds of his own back in New York. Hudson will play the Silver family patriarch, Reverend Peters, a renowned pastor of an historic Baptist church in Boston. An open-minded, welcoming man that is comfortable in all traditions, he is happy to preside at his church's traditional Sunday Baptist service. Reverend Peters is the father of Mae Silver, Boston's District Attorney, and grandfather of Det. Lena Silver (Martin-Green), Superintendent Ashley Silver, and rookie patrol cop, Isaac Silver. Lawson will play Sarah Silver, the strong willed and decisive Superintendent in the Boston Police Department who is Lena's stepsister. Sarah is well aware of the tightrope she can walk sometimes between her job and her family. (July 2026 - March 2027 | w/t "FAMILY DINNER")

In the mystical Scottish Highlands, two American tourists, Tommy Albright and Jeff Douglas, stumble upon Brigadoon, a hidden village that appears only once every hundred years. The townspeople live frozen in time, protected by a miracle that shields them from the outside world. As Tommy falls in love with Fiona, a young villager, he is torn between returning to his modern life or embracing a love bound by enchantment. When Tommy realizes true happiness may lie in Brigadoon's timeless embrace, he must decide if love is worth leaving everything behind—or risk losing Fiona forever when the village disappears again.

The Candy House opens with the staggeringly brilliant Bix Bouton, whose company, Mandala, is so successful that he is "one of those tech demi-gods with whom we're all on a first name basis." Bix is forty, with four kids, restless, and desperate for a new idea, when he stumbles into a conversation group, mostly Columbia professors, one of whom is experimenting with downloading or "externalizing" memory. Within a decade, Bix's new technology, "Own Your Unconscious"—which allows you access to every memory you've ever had, and to share your memories in exchange for access to the memories of others—has seduced multitudes. Code of Silence introduces us to Deaf catering worker, Alison Woods. She's struggling to make ends meet, juggling two jobs, in a police canteen and a local bar, while also doing her best to support her Deaf mum, Julie. When DC Ashleigh Francis calls on Alison to lip read the conversations of some dangerous criminals, she is plunged into a new and exhilarating world. Alison's interpretation of the gang's clandestine meetings quickly becomes key to unlocking the police investigation. But Alison's feelings about the case become complicated when she finds herself drawn to Liam, one of the main suspects. Alison knows she's putting herself at risk by agreeing to work with the police, and when things threaten to spill over into her personal life, she knows she should step away. But Alison can't let go.

Gordon (Patrick Brammall) is a 40-something microbrewery manager who is reeling from a breakup. Ashley (Harriet Dyelmager) is a 29-year-old student doctor who is also reeling from a breakup. When Ashley distracts Gordon while he's driving, Gordon injures a stray dog and the two find themselves sharing responsibility for its welfare. They name the dog "Colin from Accounts" and a connection forms from there. Season 2 opens with Ash and Gordon officially living together and trying to get their beloved, special needs dog, Colin, back from his new owners. It's one of the many hurdles for the new couple as they learn more about each other, for better and worse.

Set in 18th-century Italy, Cry to Heaven follows Guido Maffeo, a castrated peasant-turned-opera star, and Tonio Treschi, a noble Venetian betrayed by his family. After being castrated by his half-brother Carlo, Tonio is sent to study music under Guido in Naples. Despite his struggles with identity and revenge, Tonio excels, becoming a renowned soprano and finding solace in love. His journey culminates in a dramatic confrontation with Carlo, leading to Carlo's death and Tonio's return to a life of artistic triumph and personal freedom. (January 2026 - March 2026)

CENTRAL PICTURES | OUT FOR THE COUNT 529 5th Ave., New York, NY 10173

It's a Friday night in a campus bar in Berkeley, fall of 2000, and Percy Marks is pontificating about music again. Hall and Oates is on the jukebox, and Percy—who has no talent for music, just lots of opinions about it—can't stop herself from overanalyzing the song, indulging what she knows to be her most annoying habit. But something is different tonight. The guy beside her at the bar, fellow student Joe Morrow, is a songwriter. And he could listen to Percy talk all night. Joe asks Percy for feedback on one of his songs—and the results kick off a partnership that will span years, ignite new passions in them both, and crush their egos again and again. Is their collaboration worth its cost? Or is it holding Percy back from finding her own voice? Moving from Brooklyn bars to San Francisco dance floors, Deep Cuts examines the nature of talent, obsession, belonging, and above all, our need to be heard. (February 9 - April 1, 2026)

A procedural drama with comedic undertones. In it, brilliant but directionless, the great grandson of Albert Einstein (Gubler) spends his days as a comfortably tenured professor until his bad boy antics land him in trouble with the law and he is pressed into service helping a local police detective solve her most puzzling cases. Gubler's Lew Einstein is a popular professor at Princeton... when he actually shows up for class. Irreverent and misguided, Lew's genius and famous name weighs heavily on him but using his gift to help solve homicides may— finally— offer his life some direction and purpose. Salazar's Maddie Paris is a Detective Inspector for the New Jersey State Police, who went into law enforcement after the death of her husband. Sharp and disciplined, Maddie demands a lot from her colleagues and even more from herself and feels conflicted about working with Professor Lew Einstein. (March 2026 - August 2026)

Emily, an ambitious marketing executive from Chicago, unexpectedly lands her dream job in Paris when her company acquires a French luxury marketing company — and she is tasked with revamping their social media strategy. Emily's new life in Paris is filled with intoxicating adventures and surprising challenges as she juggles winning over her work colleagues, making friends, and navigating new romances. Season 5 picks up days after Season 4 ends, as Emily settles into her beautiful apartment in Rome to run Agence Gateau's Italian office. Alfie has moved on with a new girlfriend after Emily chose Gabriel over him. But ultimately, Emily grows tired of Gabriel's ambiguous relationship with Camille and indecision, and starts flirting with Marcello Muratori, the charming and confident heir of a family-owned cashmere company in the picturesque yet fictional village of Solitano, near Rome. Season 4 wraps with a cliffhanger as Gabriel, who's had an epiphany, surprises Emily by showing up on the doorsteps of her new flat in Rome upon learning that she has relocated there. The spinoff follows Russell Lee Washington Jr. (Jackson) who, after befriending Dwight Manfredi (Stallone) during a 10-year stint in federal prison, is sent to Tulsa by New York's Renzetti crime family to take Dwight out once and for all. Inspired by what Dwight created in Tulsa and impressed with the possibilities of second chances, Washington returns to New Orleans, the home he abandoned 40 years ago, to rekindle his relationship with his family, friends, and to take control of the city he left behind. In so doing, he incurs the wrath of his former employers in New York, and makes himself vulnerable to old NOLA foes, both criminal and cop. (February 2026 - July 2026 | aka "NOLA KING")

Daphne always loved the way her fiancé Peter told their story. How they met (on a blustery day), fell in love (over an errant hat), and moved back to his lakeside hometown to begin their life together. He really was good at telling it...right up until the moment he realized he was actually in love with his childhood best friend Petra. Which is how Daphne begins her new story: Stranded in beautiful Waning Bay, Michigan, without friends or family but with a dream job as a children's librarian (that barely pays the bills), and proposing to be roommates with the only person who could possibly understand her predicament: Petra's ex, Miles Nowak. Scruffy and chaotic—with a penchant for taking solace in the sounds of heart break love ballads—Miles is exactly the opposite of practical, buttoned up Daphne, whose coworkers know so little about her they have a running bet that she's either FBI or in witness protection. The roommates mainly avoid one another, until one day, while drowning their sorrows, they form a tenuous friendship and a plan. If said plan also involves posting deliberately misleading photos of their summer adventures together, well, who could blame them? But it's all just for show, of course, because there's no way Daphne would actually start her new chapter by falling in love with her ex-fiancé's new fiancée's ex...right?

A live-action TV series based on the hugely popular ancient mythology-themed game. The series follows Kratos (Hurst), the God of War, who, after exiling himself from his blood-soaked past in ancient Greece, hangs up his weapons forever in the Norse realm of Midgard. When his beloved wife dies, Kratos sets off on a dangerous journey with his estranged son to spread her ashes from the highest peak—his wife's final wish. Kratos soon realizes the journey is an epic quest in disguise, one which will test the bonds between father and son, and force Kratos to battle new Gods and monsters for the fate of the world. CD: Ilona Smyth

A burnt out salesman checks into a crumbling roadside motel one night only to wake up the next morning next to a dead body of someone he's never met... No memory of how it got there. No witnesses. No obvious exit. But it's in his room - so to make sure no one thinks it was him, he does the only reasonable thing: He tries to deal with it himself. What follows is a claustrophobic, darkly comic spiral as he attempts - badly - to hide the body while the worst possible interruptions keep knocking: a cleaning lady, a cop, and reality itself. Every attempt to regain control only makes things worse.

Harriet and Wyn have been the perfect couple since they met in college—they go together like salt and pepper, honey and tea, lobster and rolls. Except, now—for reasons they're still not discussing—they don't. They broke up five months ago. And still haven't told their best friends. Which is how they find themselves sharing a bedroom at the Maine cottage that has been their friend group's yearly getaway for the last decade. Their annual respite from the world, where for one vibrant, blissful week they leave behind their daily lives; have copious amounts of cheese, wine, and seafood; and soak up the salty coastal air with the people who understand them most. Only this year, Harriet and Wyn are lying through their teeth while trying not to notice how desperately they still want each other. Because the cottage is for sale and this is the last week they'll all have together in this place. They can't stand to break their friends' hearts, and so they'll play their parts. Harriet will be the driven surgical resident who never starts a fight, and Wyn will be the laid-back charmer who never lets the cracks show. It's a flawless plan (if you look at it from a great distance and through a pair of sunscreen-smear sunglasses). After years of being in love, how hard can it be to fake it for one week...in front of those who know you best?

The Lowdown follows the gritty exploits of citizen journalist Lee Raybon (Hawke), a self-proclaimed Tulsa "truthstorian" whose obsession with the truth is always getting him into trouble. While Lee's no idealist, he's fiercely committed to exposing corruption and unearthing the city's hidden rot, even when it puts him at risk. In season one, the publication of Lee's latest exposé - a deep dive into the powerful Washberg family - is immediately followed by the suspicious suicide of Dale Washberg, and Lee knows he's stumbled onto something big. Following a trail of breadcrumbs Dale has left behind, urging someone to dig deeper into the circumstances surrounding his death, Lee does just that. (February 23 - June 23, 2026)

The road trip comedy follows Jack Ritchie (Elgort), a down-and-out writer moonlighting as a community college instructor who thinks he's finally found his big break when 93-year-old Lucy Boomer (MacLaine) — a former secretary, and perhaps more, to four U.S. Presidents — agrees to an interview for his book. In exchange for her revealing journals, Jack helps Lucy escape her Santa Fe nursing home and drive her home to North Dakota. Along the way, they pick up Anna, a free-spirited hitchhiker who disrupts their uneasy companionship. But their unlikely road trip takes an unexpected turn when a local detective sets out to track them down.

Set in the 1880s American frontier, The Magnificent Seven follows a group of mercenaries who are hired to protect a peaceful Quaker village after it is massacred by a land baron's hired guns. As the flawed but gifted mercenaries embed with the Quakers, they must grapple with the question of whether it is acceptable to use violence to defend a people whose faith is based on nonviolence. The series will explore each member of the Seven, exploring what's at stake and why they chose to take on this mission.

Mascots is a subversive drama-thriller blending dark comedy, action, and a warped coming-of-age tale to explore trauma's shadow and the thin line between victim and perpetrator. Two adult children, raised in isolation by a disturbed captor (Mickey Rourke's Jeff), escape into an unfamiliar world. Disguised in homemade Mickey and Tigger suits, they rob an Anaheim store and flee to the 1992 Paw-Con in search of belonging, identity, and freedom. Naïve to abuse, sexuality, money, and mental illness, they confront an existential journey to define themselves.

In season three, a series of explosions rocked Kingstown and its citizens, as a new face of the Russian mob set up shop in the city, and a drug war raged inside and outside prison walls. The pressure was on Mike McLusky (Jeremy Renner) to end the war but things got complicated when a familiar face from his incarcerated past threatened to undermine the Mayor's attempts to keep the peace among all factions. When we meet Minnow, a tattooed, 20-something drug addict sleeping in her car, she seems trapped in a brutal loop: steal, score, survive. After rebuffing a creepy bar patron, she's offered a drink by a kind bartender, only to black out outside the bar. She wakes imprisoned in the sealed sleeper cab of a semi truck, hauled cross-country by a silent Trucker who ignores her screams. Through fragmented dreams and tense exchanges, we learn Minnow is an ex-Marine whose sister vanished years earlier. The story rewinds to reveal the truth: Minnow engineered her own downfall. Teaming with Buck, a grieving father convinced a trucker took his daughter, she deliberately transformed herself into bait to lure the suspect. Back in the present, Minnow escapes, captures the Trucker, and learns he's merely "the delivery guy." Chaos follows, the Trucker dies, and police close the case. Refusing to accept that answer, Minnow sets off alone to hunt the real monster—one last mission that may finally break her.

Overwhelmed by a sea of housework, daily minutiae and the never-ending pressure of raising two little girls, Nina struggles with a workaholic husband, Rob, two small daughters (Marlo and Harper) and her own neglected painting career. When she and her husband decide to get her help in the form of a nanny, Nina hires Lucas, a talented guitarist and all-round good guy. Lucas immediately makes Nina's life easier, taking great care of the kids, the housework and even redesigning her art studio. But when their inevitable mutual attraction becomes an affair, Lucas proves himself to have reserves of darkness and obsession as he relentlessly tries to insert himself into Nina's life to "help her". Season 1 of Mr. and Mrs. Smith followed two lonely strangers (Donald Glover, Maya Erskine) who have to pose as a married couple as they both begin new careers as spies, taking on new aliases, Mr. and Mrs. John and Jane Smith. Now hitched, John and Jane navigate a high-risk mission every week while also facing a new relationship milestone. Their complex cover story becomes even more complicated when they catch real feelings for each other. What's riskier: espionage or marriage? The new Jane and John are believed to be different characters, not replacements for the ones played by Glover and Erskine in Season 1.

A refugee from big-city policing, Karl Alberg thinks he's seen it all, but he's not even going to know what hit him. Alberg's search for the truth takes him to British Columbia's Sunshine Coast and into the secluded house of Zoe Strachan, a woman of seductive beauty and shattering secrets. At the same time, Alberg investigates the sudden disappearance of an elderly widow from a village nursing home... a disappearance he doesn't connect with the Strachan case until it is almost too late, when the two seemingly unrelated events converge in a chilling act of violence and evil that will challenge Alberg's utmost powers of perception as a detective—and as a man. A footstep on the stairs. A second to react. What happens next will determine everything. Home alone with her young children during a blizzard, a mother tucks her son back into bed in the middle of the night. She hears a noise—old houses are always making some kind of noise. But this sound is disturbingly familiar: it's the tread of footsteps, unusually heavy and slow, coming up the stairs. She sees the figure of a man appear down the hallway, shrouded in the shadows. Terrified, she quietly wakes her children and hustles them into the oldest part of the house, a tiny, secret room concealed behind a wall. There they hide as the man searches for them, trying to tempt the children out with promises and scare the mother into surrender. In the suffocating darkness, the mother struggles to remain calm, to plan. Should she search for a weapon or attempt escape? But then she catches another glimpse of him. That face. That voice. And at once she knows her situation is even more dire than she'd feared, because she knows exactly who he is—and what he wants. (January 26 - February 27, 2026)

Shira, an intelligent, solitary middle-aged woman, has always put herself in the background to support the careers of men. She reluctantly agrees to take in Jurek, the immigrant grandson of the Polish family who saved her father and aunt during the war. Surprisingly, these two lonely people, far apart in age, recognize in each other something beyond what they present to the world. But the young man has secrets - since his arrival in the US he has become involved in a sex trafficking ring. When assigned to escort a mother and her small child, he balks, horrified, and brings them instead to Shira's home. It falls to Shira to extricate all three from the clutches of the deadly criminals. She finds in herself the strength and self-possession to send Jurek to safety, and to help the immigrant mother and child, paying forward the life-saving kindness that was done her family long ago. Shira takes the credit and position in her work to which she has long been entitled, and finally opens her life to the possibility of meaningful connection.

Netherlands, 1940s. In the midst of the Nazi occupation, one married couple's small act of resistance threatens to throw their carefully ordered life into chaos in this gripping and humorous exploration of human relationships tested by extraordinary circumstance. Wim (Freeman) and Marie (Hawkins), a well-meaning Dutch couple, decide to offer their home as sanctuary to Nico (Broderick), a Jewish perfume salesman, during WWII. Fraught with social misunderstandings and the ever-present fear of discovery, the three somehow manage to fall into a tentative rhythm, becoming a sort of family in the process. Their comfort is short-lived, however, when Nico falls ill and suddenly dies. Now, Wim and Marie must find a way to dispose of a corpse. With the help of a doctor, they think they have succeeded – but one tiny mistake means they risk being discovered, and so Wim and Marie find that they are the ones now being forced into hiding. Dry, sarcastic, 16-year-old Cam Cooper has spent the last seven years in and out hospitals. The last thing she wants to do in the short life she has left is move 1,500 miles away to Promise, Maine - a place known for the miraculous events that occur there. But it's undeniable that strange things happen in Promise: everlasting sunsets; purple dandelions; flamingoes in the frigid Atlantic; an elusive boy named Asher; and finally, a mysterious envelope containing a list of things for Cam to do before she dies. As Cam checks each item off the list, she finally learns to believe - in love, in herself, and even in miracles.

Reasonable Doubt centers on Los Angeles-based high-powered criminal defense attorney Jacqueline "Jax" Stewart (Emayatzy Corinealdi) as she deals with past traumas, a failing marriage, motherhood and a murder case, all while trying to keep her life together. The tumultuous season follows Jax fighting to acquit her latest client, former child star Ozzie Edwards (Kyle Bary), who was once loved by millions but is now accused of murder and brings with him a whole entourage of enablers and a mess only Jax can untangle. As America gathers to watch his trial, Jax must contend with an ambitious new colleague, Bill Sterling (Sikora), and coworkers questioning her worth. The more complicated the trial becomes, the more Jax finds herself fighting both in and out of the courtroom and learning that winning can often come with unexpected consequences.

A comedy about politics as content, family as collateral damage, and the impossible task of loving people you fundamentally disagree with. It begins after a live, on-air announcement turns a terminal illness into a national spectacle. America's most beloved conservative TV couple's carefully curated public persona collides with their very real family when their liberal, podcast-famous kids return home for a network tribute special. Notably, the same kids host a show dedicated to tearing down everything their parents stand for. MacDowell plays Ruthie, a right-wing news celebrity and co-host of a morning show whose public-facing marriage — and private life as a mother of twins — is tested as the family is forced into the spotlight.

A dramatic, darkly comic, true story that asks if it's possible for any group of people to sit together and tackle the problems of our time when we can't agree on how to arrange the chairs. At a beachside resort in Florida in 1980, 20 experts gather for a weekend conference on a global issue that is starting to gain traction: the effects of Co2 emissions on the climate. This group of scientists, activists and policymakers have one simple mandate from Congress — write a statement about what to do. Easier said than done. (aka “LOSING EARTH”)

By day, monsters stalk the fields; by night, humans farm in hiding. Sixteen-year-old Caleb, raised by kind Lynne and driven, fearful Gary, aches to see the sun. Secret dawn walks with Lynne lift his spirits and sharpen his work, until Gary discovers the risk and forbids it. Then Lynne reveals the truth: a buried meteor brought Caleb to Earth, and sunlight awakens his monstrous, tree-like power. Reeling, Caleb flees into daylight and collides with terrified survivors. Forced to defend himself, he gravely injures a man. Now hunted, Caleb must choose between the family who loved him and his true self.

Scott Treder, a 47-year-old biology technician, lives a peaceful life with his wife, Amy, and their seven-year-old son, Lyle. His routine world shatters when, one day, his car vanishes beneath him, leaving him stranded and bewildered. Amy is stunned to learn Scott didn't return home, sparking confusion and suspicion. As Scott resumes his daily life, he experiences an inexplicable leap in time, skipping two days in an instant. The jumps escalate, doubling each time, pulling Scott further into an uncertain future. Struggling to convince his skeptical wife and baffled colleagues, Scott finds himself under public scrutiny as the phenomenon gains attention. As his time leaps extend from days to years, the strain fractures his marriage, leaving Amy to seek solace in divorce. Meanwhile, Lyle dedicates his life to understanding his father's mysterious condition, evolving from a curious child into a determined scientist. Society crumbles into chaos as Scott's unpredictable appearances turn him into both a legend and a target. On his final jump, Scott reunites with an aged Lyle, who has constructed an elaborate solution to end the relentless time jumps. In a race against time and fate, Scott faces the ultimate question: can he escape his temporal prison, or is he destined to leap into oblivion forever?

The Sistas spinoff follows Zac (Ellis) and Fatima (Hayslett) are young, happy, and in love. They have just moved in together, and they both agree: their lives are perfectly meshed, and whatever happened in the past does not matter. This approach to life and love works like a perfectly timed watch -- until other people knock on the door, dragging the past (and the future) in with them, and kicking that perfectly timed watch straight across the room and into a brick wall.

It centers around Melinda Monroe, who answers an ad to work as a nurse practitioner in the remote California town of Virgin River thinking it will be the perfect place to start fresh and leave her painful memories behind. But she soon discovers that small-town living isn't quite as simple as she expected and that she must learn to heal herself before she can truly make Virgin River her home. Season Five of Virgin River features surprising new relationships, a shocking break-up, a difficult court trial, a heartbreaking goodbye, and a wildfire that threatens the town, bringing some people of Virgin River together while tearing others apart. Issues of motherhood push Mel to make a big decision about her future at the clinic while her pregnancy unexpectedly sparks an emotional connection to her past. To further prove himself to Mel, Jack squares off with some long-overdue confrontations—with his own demons, and of course, Charmaine. And as Doc and Hope's respective impairments throw their identities into question, the doctor and the mayor must find solace in their community, in their young new family, and in each other. In Peter Cameron's What Happens at Night, an unnamed American couple travels to a remote, snowbound city in northern Europe to adopt a child. The Wife, weakened by a recurrent illness, seeks solace and renewal, while the Husband suppresses his anxieties under a veneer of calm. Upon arrival at the decaying Grand Imperial Hotel, they encounter the enigmatic Boyne, an exiled American singer who offers cryptic warnings and unexpected companionship. Their journey grows more unsettling as they meet Claudia, a brusque adoption official, and Mara, a hospice worker who tends to the Wife with unnerving intimacy. The couple's carefully laid plans begin to unravel amid the region's eerie quiet, faded grandeur, and disorienting rituals. Confronted by moral ambiguities and their own emotional distance, the Husband and Wife are forced to question not only the future of their child but also the viability of their marriage and their own capacity for love. Yellowjackets follows a girls' high school soccer team. In 1975, the Dearborn High Yellowjackets became the first team in state history to qualify for the Girls' U.S. Soccer Championship Series in Manchester, NH. They never got the chance to compete. Equal parts survival epic, horror story and pitch black coming of age, Yellowjackets tells the story of the (un)lucky survivors of a plane crash deep in the Ontario wilderness, chronicling their descent from a friendly, cooperative team to warring, cannibalistic clans. At the same time, it follows the lives they've attempted to piece back together nearly twenty-five years later, proving that the past is never really past and what began out in the wilderness is far from over.
