A large-scale espionage film about international agents in a grounded, edgy action thriller. The film involves these top agents from organizations around the world uniting to stop a global organization from acquiring a weapon that could plunge an already unstable world into total chaos. These women must bond together, overcoming their suspicions and conflicts, to use all their considerable talents and training to stop an event from occurring that could thrust our teetering world into total chaos. Along the way, these strangers and enemies become comrades and friends, and a new faction is formed – code-named "355" (a name they adopt from the first female spy in the American Revolution). Aisha Taylor is a high school senior and budding young visual artist who's has been raised by her single father since the death of her mother. Although she's off-beat and a bit reserved, she's able to fit into high school and she's doing a pretty good job, given the fact...that something about her is very, very different. Aisha is a show about that moment in many teenager's lives where they realize the carefully curated history about how they came to be... of their family's history... is far more complicated than they've been told. Sometimes their parents fell in love and had a baby. Sometimes it's messier. A lot messier. (June 6 - July 25)

When a young man's telekinesis is discovered by the military, he is taken in to be turned into a super-weapon and his brother race to save him before Manhattan is destroyed by his powers. Kaneda is a bar owner in Neo-Manhattan who is stunned when his brother, Tetsuo, is abducted by government agents led by The Colonel. Desperate to get his brother back, Kaneda agrees to join with Ky Reed and her underground movement who are intent on revealing to the world what truly happened to New York City thirty years ago when it was destroyed. Kaneda believes their theories to be ludicrous but after finding his brother again, is shocked when he displays telekinetic powers. Ky believes Tetsuo is headed to release a young boy, Akira, who has taken control of Tetsuo's mind. Kaneda clashes with the Colonel's troops on his way to stop Tetsuo from releasing Akira but arrives too late. Akira soon emerges from his prison courtesy of Tetsuo as Kaneda races in to save his brother before Akira once again destroys Manhattan island, as he did thirty years ago. (July - November)

When Hitler seizes power in 1933, a tight-knit group of friends and lovers suddenly become hunted outlaws overnight. Dora, liberated and fearless; her lover, the great playwright Ernst Toller; Ruth; and Ruth's journalist husband, Hans find refuge in London. There, using secret contacts deep inside the Nazi regime, they take breathtaking risks to warn the world of Hitler's plans for war. But England is not the safe haven they think it will be, and a single, chilling act of betrayal will tear them apart.

Katie Otto, a confident, unapologetic wife and mother of three, raises her flawed family in the wealthy town of Westport, Connecticut, filled with "perfect" mommies and their "perfect" offspring. Luckily, her husband, Greg Otto, supports her in every way possible, but with a dash of reality thrown in as they work to ensure their children do not end up like everyone else. Despite her flaws and unconventional ways, Katie ultimately only wants the best for her kids and will fight tooth-and-nail to instill some good old-fashioned values in them, if it's the last thing she does.

The Baker and the Beauty follows the impossible Miami love story between a simple baker and an international superstar. Noa Hollander has it all: she's the most famous woman in the country, the beautiful daughter of a real estate magnate, a successful model with an international career and – up until now – one half of a Hollywood power couple. The son of Cuban immigrants, Daniel is a simple guy who still lives with his parents and works at the family bakery. A chance encounter at a fancy restaurant — where Daniel may or may not propose to his eager girlfriend of 8 years, Vanessa, and where Noa is avoiding public speculation about a break-up from her Hollywood lover – leads to unexpected sparks and an even more unlikely love story. Can their love survive her jet-setting lifestyle, her overbearing agent, his unworldly family, both their exes and the media?

Thanos, a 45 years old psychoanalyst, wakes up early in the morning and makes love to his younger wife while she is almost still sleeping. A bit later he leaves her a cup of coffee and a tender handwritten note before he goes to his office. Marianne, his wife, a talented translator of French literature who usually signs as "M", at the end of the day she is discovered missing. The next day, Jaques, a complex-ridden young French-Greek philologist appears in Thanos' office claiming suicidal tendencies caused to his inability to overcome a short love affair he had with a married woman, who happens to have been M., without knowing that she is already missing. Thanos confused by M.'s queerly secrets starts searching for her asking Sophia, M.'s totally different but enigmatic 34 years old sister, for assistance. Thanos and Sophia report M.'s disappearance to the police and begin their own search even if they don't share all the evidence they discover. Sophia soon finds out that M. was pregnant the day she disappeared and Thanos feels trapped by M.'s blur trails but, moreover, by their marriage crisis symptoms that he realizes through the playing back of the early morning sex scene in his mind as a scene of an almost marital rape. Thanos' nerve collapses but Sophia keeps standing by his side until they seem to have drifted into a kind of unconscious alliance that tends to render M. superfluous. When the other M.'s family members become involved in her quest, they accuse Thanos of intentional negligence but on the same day he receives a call from the police asking him to identify a female corpse found at the shore at dawn. In 1978, Indiana-born farm-boy Luke heads to LA to be the songwriter he knows he was destined to be. Following a car accident which killed his twin brother, left his mother in a coma and endangers the financial future of the family farm, Luke is forced to leave behind his younger sister and a troubled relationship with his father to pursue his dream. Apparent success arrives with head-spinning speed when he manages to be in the right place at the right time with the right song for a one-hit-wonder pop singer whose small label is wondering how to make ends meet. Enticed by complex love affairs and deceptive songwriting deals, Luke's stage-fright, and his principals, inculcated by his parents, once mildly-successful country western songwriters, are put to the test as he truly questions whether he's cut out for the biz.

When a mysterious woman climbs out of a duffel bag in the middle of Times Square, Special Agent Kurt Weller (Stapleton) is shocked to discover his name tattooed on her back. Unable to remember a thing, the tattooed Jane Doe (Alexander) becomes the center of Agent Weller's investigation after he discovers her body art to be a treasure map of sorts. Still in the dark as to why he's been singled out, Kurt Weller knows that a clock has begun ticking, and the one woman who could explain anything knows even less than him.

To get background for a new book, author Charles (Stevens) and his second wife Ruth light-heartedly arrange for local mystic Madame Arcati (Dench) to give a séance. The unfortunate result is that Charles' first wife Elvira (Fisher) returns from beyond the grave to make his life something of a misery. Ruth too gets increasingly irritated with her supernatural rival, but M.Arcati is at her wit's end as to how to sort things out.

Follows the outrageous lives and loves of those responsible for a global women's magazine. Their struggles are about finding your identity, managing friendships and getting your heart broken, all while wearing the perfect jeans to flatter any body type. While the show is heavily inspired by Coles' experiences, the series won't directly name Cosmopolitan and instead centers around a fictional publication, Scarlet Magazine. Hardin stars as the magazine editor in chief, Jacqueline, while Stevens will star as a writer who has just been promoted to her dream job. Jacqueline is described as quietly tough and confident and someone who can intimidate without saying a word, but she also has a strong nurturing side and encourages the young staffer to find her voice as a writer.

"BONE CAGE" Feature Film

BONE CAGE PRODUCTIONS

STATUS: May 20 LOCATION: Nova Scotia
PRODUCER: Melani Wood WRITER: Taylor Olson - Catherine Banks DIRECTOR: Taylor Olson (taylor.c.p.olson@gmail.com)
Jamie works night shifts operating a wood processor, clear-cutting for pulp. At the end of each shift, he walks through the destruction he has created looking for injured animals, and rescues those he can. Jamie's desire to escape this world is thwarted by his fear of leaving the place where he has some status. Bone Cage examines how young people in rural communities, employed in the destruction of the environment they love, treat the people they love at the end of their shift. It is about the difficulty in growing and hanging on to dreams in a world where dreams are seen as impractical or weak. It is funny. It is tragic. It is about different kinds of escaping. It is about a soul trapped in its own rib cage, a cage of bone, a Bone Cage. (May 20 - June 7)

Bill Hollister, a veteran deputy with the Los Angeles Sheriff's Department, is an old school maverick who marches to his own drummer. When the elected sheriff drops dead, and Hollister finds himself appointed to the post as the result of an obscure 100-plus year old bylaw, he has no intention of playing politics as usual. He may rattle the cages of the powers-that-be, but his rough-and-ready methods are the most effective leadership his department has had in decades.

In the long hot summer of 1939, Britain is preparing for war. But on a riverside farm in Suffolk there is excitement of another kind: Mrs Petty, the widowed farmer, has had her hunch proved correct that the strange mounds on her land hold buried treasure. As the dig proceeds against a background of mounting national anxiety, it becomes clear though that this is no ordinary find...And pretty soon the discovery leads to all kinds of jealousies and tensions. John Preston's recreation of the Sutton Hoo dig - the greatest Anglo-Saxon discovery ever in Britain - brilliantly and comically dramatizes three months of intense activity when locals fought outsiders, professionals thwarted amateurs, and love and rivalry flourished in equal measure.

A two-hander buddy cop action comedy in the spirit of films like 48 Hours, Rush Hour and The Heat. Hemsworth will play a detective who goes undercover to crack a series of baffling casino heists in which the prime suspects are a troupe of Australian male erotic dancers. He's forced to take the partner no one else will — Haddish's character, a lone wolf who does things only one way: hers. Together they have to work as an unlikely duo to solve the crime of their careers.

Revolving around the untold love story behind the creation of the Eiffel Tower. Mackey will play Adrienne Bourgès, a mysterious, high-born woman linked to celebrated engineer Gustave Eiffel's past. The storyline takes its cue from Eiffel's search for inspiration as he comes under pressure to design something spectacular for the 1889 Paris World Fair, following his triumphant collaboration with Frédéric Auguste Bartholdi on the Statue of Liberty. A chance meeting with long-lost, forbidden passion Adrienne inspires him to change the Paris skyline forever, with a feat of engineering commemorating her name, which has since become a symbol of France and been climbed by some 300m visitors to date.

A look, mostly through the eyes of Tammy Faye Bakker Messner, at her rise and fall as a popular televangelist with husband Jim Bakker. Traces their rise: her teen marriage to Jim; their children's TV show (she was a puppeteer and singer), success founding the 700 Club, co-founding the Trinity Broadcast Network, and starting PTL Network; her non-denominational version of Christianity reaching out to all; and, their building of Heritage USA, a theme park. Things fall apart as money woes mount for Heritage and for Jim, as Tammy takes pills, and as Jerry Falwell takes PTL. Jim goes to prison; she remarries, finds herself alone again, yet remains unsinkable.

Two Kisses For Maddy details Matthew Logelin's (Hart) unexpected journey of raising his daughter (Hurd) as a single parent in the wake of tragedy and his daily struggle overcoming his grief over the loss of his wife. His story was initially transcribed through his online blog, which gained national media attention in 2008. With the support of a worldwide community, Logelin moved with his daughter Madeline to India, a site which held sentimental memories of his wife, to write a book detailing his story. Logelin's memoir serves as a testament to his wife's legacy and a way for his daughter to connect with her mother. (June - August)

A southern Gothic family drama in which wealth, power and religion collide – with outrageously soapy results. When the patriarch of a mega-rich Southern family, famed for creating a wildly successful Christian television network, dies in a plane crash, his wife and family are stunned to learn that he fathered three illegitimate children, all of whom are written into his will, threatening their family name and fortune. With monumental twists and turns, Filthy Rich presents a world in which everyone has an ulterior motive – and no one is going down without a fight.

One frosty winter morning, Jennifer Vogel opened the newspaper and read that her father had gone on the run. John Vogel (Penn), fifty-two, had been arrested for single-handedly counterfeiting nearly $20 million in U.S. currency -- the fourth-largest sum ever seized by federal agents -- and then released pending trial. Though Jennifer hadn't spoken to her father in more than four years, the police suspected he might turn up at her Minneapolis apartment. She examined the shadows outside her building, thought she spotted him at the grocery store and the bus stop. He had simply vanished. Framed around the six months her father eluded authorities, Jennifer's memoir documents the police chase -- stakeouts, lie detector tests, even a segment on Unsolved Mysteries -- and vividly chronicles her tumultuous childhood while examining her father's legacy. A lifelong criminal who robbed banks, burned down buildings, scammed investors, and even plotted murder, John Vogel was also a hapless dreamer who wrote a novel, baked lemon meringue pies, and took his ten-year-old daughter to see Rocky in an empty theater on Christmas Eve. When it came time to pass his counterfeit bills, he spent them at Wal-Mart for political reasons. (June 17 - August 15)

Music producer Aaron Walker has been unjustly incarcerated for nine years (of a life sentence) for drug dealing. Determined to get out and reclaim his life with his ex-wife, Marie, and their daughter Jasmine, Aaron has, in prison, gotten his law degree and passed the bar. He can now go to court on behalf of his inmate clients but still has to return at the end of each day to his tiny prison cell. Behind his apparently altruistic desire to help other innocent inmates, he has a driving need to discredit the district attorney and the prosecutor who unjustly sent him to prison -- in an effort to get his own conviction overturned. But to do that, he needs to navigate a minefield of political, professional and personal obstacles.

The anthology series will explore Aretha Franklin's musical genius, incomparable career and the immeasurable impact and lasting influence she had around the world. Grammy Award winner Franklin was a gospel prodigy and outspoken civil rights champion and is widely considered to be the greatest singer of her generation, receiving countless honors throughout her career. Without knowing how to read music, Franklin taught herself to play the piano, began to record songs and sang on gospel tours with her father. She signed her first record deal at age 18 with Columbia Records before moving to Atlantic Records and then Arista, where she was united with founder Davis and began a more than 40-year partnership with him. The legendary singer is one of the world's best-selling musical artists of all time, with more than 75 million records sold globally during her career. Her voice was identified as a "natural resource" by her home state of Michigan.

DEEPER WATER | FULL CLIP PRODUCTIONS michael@afullclip.com

When workers traveling across a deserted wasteland stumble across the biggest gold nugget ever found, they are elated. The discovery soon becomes problematic when they realize a large part of the nugget is buried underground. Deep in the desert and at least two days drive from the nearest town, one of the men (Keith) takes the truck to acquire the necessary equipment to excavate the gold. The other man (Virgil) stays, guarding the nugget in the harsh elements until his friend returns. Two-way radios keep them in contact, and with hours and eventually days of dead airtime in between each communication, Virgil begins to run out of supplies. Water scarce, food even more so. Virgil battles the elements. Hungry wild animals, reptiles and the harsh desert provide the drama for an intense survival thriller. Eventually a threatening stranger comes upon the isolated location. When she won't leave, Virgil kills the stranger to prevent her finding the gold nugget hidden under desert stones. Virgil buries the stranger on the fringe of the camp, and tries to burn the corpse, but this only attracts the attention of more wild animals who arrive in packs. Soon, Virgil is confronted with another visitor armed with a crossbow. It's the dead stranger's sister. It is a long night as the stranger's sister stays for the evening, eventually heading off at dawn. A couple more days pass and Virgil is close to death. Keith has not been in contact, and the situation is dire. Behind the sand dunes, Keith already has the equipment and is watching Virgil through binoculars. He has been there for days, lying about the difficulty procuring the equipment. With a full supply of water and food, Keith is cunningly waiting for Virgil to perish before claiming the gold for himself. Virgil eventually loses hope and dies, his dying body savaged by wild dogs. Keith makes his way down to the gold. About to excavate, an arrow from a crossbow goes straight through Keith's heart. Gold is a film about greed and the lengths people will go to in order to secure themselves a fortune.

A contemporary take on the classic series about a new elite federalized task force whose mission is to wipe out the crime that washes up on the Islands' sun-drenched beaches. Detective Steve McGarrett, a decorated Naval officer turned cop, returns to Oahu to investigate his father's murder and stays after Hawaii's governor persuades him to head up the new team: his rules, her backing, no red tape and full blanket immunity to hunt down the biggest "game" in town. Joining McGarrett is Detective Danny "Danno" Williams, a newly relocated ex-New Jersey cop who prefers skyscrapers to the coastline but is committed to keeping the Islands safe for his 8-year-old daughter; and Chin Ho Kelly, an ex-Honolulu Police Detective wrongly accused of corruption and relegated to a federal security patrol, who is also a former protégé of McGarrett's father. Chin's cousin, Kono, is a beautiful and fearless native, fresh out of the academy and eager to establish herself among the department's elite. McGarrett vows to bring closure to his father's case while the state's brash new FIVE-0 unit, who may spar and jest among themselves, is determined to eliminate the seedy elements from the 50th state.

The Vance family story begins hopefully in postwar America. J. D.'s grandparents were "dirt poor and in love," and moved north from Kentucky's Appalachia region to Ohio in the hopes of escaping the dreadful poverty around them. They raised a middle-class family, and eventually one of their grandchildren would graduate from Yale Law School, a conventional marker of success in achieving generational upward mobility. But as the family saga of Hillbilly Elegy plays out, we learn that J.D.'s grandparents, aunt, uncle, sister, and, most of all, his mother struggled profoundly with the demands of their new middle-class life, never fully escaping the legacy of abuse, alcoholism, poverty, and trauma so characteristic of their part of America. With piercing honesty, Vance shows how he himself still carries around the demons of his chaotic family history. (May - August)

The true love story of Jeremy & Melissa Camp, who met at college in the late 1990's. Jeremy was an aspiring singer/songwriter, having been taught by his father to play guitar as a young boy, & Melissa was a natural with kids so she thought she would likely be a teacher. It was love at first sight for Jeremy, but for Melissa...not as much. But eventually, after much charming persistence on Jeremy's part, it became clear to both of them, they were meant to be together. They dreamed dreams & talked about the future, having no idea that ahead were obstacles & challenges that would shake them to their core, forcing them to figure out, each for themselves, what it meant to be a person of faith, to accept the will of God, no matter what that involved. Their love story was not an easy one, but through the joy, laughter (lots of laughter), sorrow & tears, their story inspired many, & continues to have an impact far beyond what either of them could have ever imagined.

After being released on good behavior from a 15-year prison stint, Tray Armstrong (Morgan) is shocked to see just how much the world has changed in his absence. Returning to his newly-gentrified Brooklyn neighborhood, Tray discovers that his former girlfriend has married an affable, successful white man, who is helping raise his twin sons he never knew existed. Wanting nothing more than to connect with his kids, but having neither the money to support them nor himself, Tray falls back on the skills he learned in prison to make ends meet while treading on unfamiliar territory. Maldonado will play Cousin Bobby, Tray's loyal cousin, not the brightest tool in the shed. He was just 15 when Tray first went to prison, and he's grown up to be a small-time hustler who is always looking for the latest scam. He helps Tray adjust to life on the outside.

Lovecraft Country follows Atticus Black (Majors) as he joins up with his friend Letitia (Smollett-Bell) and his Uncle George (Vance) to embark on a road trip across 1950s Jim Crow America in search of his missing father. Thus begins a struggle to survive and overcome both the racist terrors of white America and the terrifying monsters that could be ripped from a Lovecraft paperback. Vance's George Black, has always been more like a father to Atticus (Majors). Warm, funny, and well read, he was the first to introduce Atticus to the wonderful and strange world of pulp novels. As the publisher of the "Safe Negro Travel Guide" he's been on enough adventures to understand there's no place like home. Ellis is Hippolyta Black, George's wife, Atticus's aunt, and a star gazer. She's been a housewife most of her life with dreams of getting into some adventures of her own, despite her husband's misgivings. Her itch for adventure will eventually, literally and figuratively, take her to the stars and beyond. Debicki portrays Christina Braithwhite, the only daughter of Samuel Braithwhite, the leader of a secret order calling themselves the "Sons of Adam." She's gone to great lengths to earn her father's respect, to no avail. She's going to pave her own path to power, and she's going to use Atticus and his family to do it.

About the legendary African American entrepreneur and philanthropist. Madam C.J. Walker tells the untold and highly irreverent story of black hair care pioneer and mogul Madam C.J. Walker and how she overcame hostile turn-of-the-century America, epic rivalries, tumultuous marriages and some trifling family to become America's first black, self-made female millionaire. Spencer stars as Sarah Breedlove, famously known as Madam C.J. Walker. The daughter of slaves, Walker was orphaned at seven, married at 14 and widowed at 20. She spent the better part of the next two decades laboring as a washerwoman for $1.50 a week. Then — with the discovery of a revolutionary hair care formula for black women — everything changed. By her death in 1919, Walker managed to overcome astonishing odds, building a storied beauty empire from the ground up, amassing wealth unprecedented among black women and devoting her life to philanthropy and social activism. Along the way, she formed friendships with great early 20th century political figures such as W.E.B. Du Bois and Booker T. Washington. (July 26 - September 27)

Elizabeth McCord, the shrewd, determined, newly appointed Secretary of State who drives international diplomacy, battles office politics and circumvents protocol as she negotiates global and domestic issues, both at the White House and at home. A college professor and a brilliant former CIA analyst who left for ethical reasons, Elizabeth returns to public life at the request of the President following the suspicious death of her predecessor. The President values her apolitical leanings, her deep knowledge of the Middle East, her flair for languages and her ability not just to think outside the box, but to not even acknowledge there is a box. McCord's team includes her Chief of Staff Nadine Tolliver, speechwriter Matt Mahoney, press coordinator Daisy Grant and her charming assistant, Blake Moran. As McCord debates third world problems, finesses foreign dignitaries at work and does battle with the President's combative Chief of Staff Russell Jackson, that's just a warm-up for when she goes home to her supportive husband Henry and their three children, where "politics" and "compromise" take on new meaning.

Craig (Radcliffe) and Eliza (Viswanathan), a new hire, both work in Heaven's Prayer Department, but billions of prayers go unanswered on a daily basis. But when Eliza challenges Heavenly CEO God (Buscemi) over the futility of their task, God decides he will chuck the whole mess and destroy the Earth in 30 days. However, if Eliza and Craig manage to answer a single prayer -- namely, to answer lonely Sam (Bass) and Laura's mutual prayer to get together -- then he will spare the planet. Unaware that the fate of the entire planet rests on their romance, this couple just needs to fall in love to save the Earth -- but despite all Eliza and Craig's most fervent machinations, that seems an increasingly remote possibility. The core four cast members return for Season 2 of Miracle Workers, which will be a medieval story about friendship, family and trying not to be murdered. It revolves around a group of villagers in the dark ages trying to stay positive in an age of inequality and fake news.

A biopic, set in 19th-Century England, centering on Karl Marx's youngest daughter Eleanor. In her public persona, Eleanor "Tussy" Marx was a translator, actress, children's rights activist, feminist and persuasive labour organizer, a tireless powerhouse determined to carry on her father's work, with whom she held her own as well as his colleague Friedrich Engels. In her private life, however, she was vulnerable and her attraction to the self-indulgent and self-important Edward Aveling led her into misery and ultimately proved fatal.

Following an unlikely band of misfits who must unite to save humanity when the moon falls out of orbit and hurtles towards earth. The Moon. It controls our nights, our days, the seasons, and our ocean tides. And since the beginning of humankind, its phases stood as a symbol of enlightenment, inner knowledge – and our own immortality. Until now. Suddenly and without warning a mysterious force knocks the Moon from its orbit around Earth and sends it hurtling on collision course with life as we know it. With mere weeks before impact, and against all odds, a ragtag team launches an impossible last-ditch mission into space, leaving behind everyone they love and risking everything to land on the lunar surface, unlock its secrets, and save our planet from annihilation. But first they must battle an unknown and unfathomable power that will challenge everything we know about the moon, the universe, and ourselves.

Based on the incredible true story of the 'Avengers'. A group of Jewish vigilantes lead by the historic figure Abba Kovner, the 'Avengers' are men and women who, after surviving the Holocaust, vow to avenge the deaths of six million Jews – "an eye for any eye, a tooth for a tooth" - by poisoning the water system in 1945 Germany.

The Power, lives in a world where all teenage girls develop the power to electrocute people at will. It's hereditary, it's inbuilt, and it can't be taken away from them. Over the first season and beyond, the series will follow its cast of characters from London to Arizona, Nigeria to Moldova, as the Power evolves from a tingle in teenagers' collarbones to a complete reversal of the power balance of the world. (It will be shot internationally and will go into production later this year.)

A fresh take on a crime franchise with a provocative and outrageous lead character and a darkly comedic tone. Malcolm Bright knows how killers think. Why? His father was one of the best, a notorious serial killer called "The Surgeon." That's why Bright is the best criminal psychologist around; murder is the family business. He uses his twisted genius to help the NYPD solve crimes, while dealing with a somewhat manipulative mother, an annoyingly normal sister, a homicidal father still looking to bond with his prodigal son and his own constantly evolving neuroses.

The Queen's Gambit traces chess prodigy Beth Harmon's life from her childhood in an orphanage through her struggles with tranquilizer and alcohol addiction to her triumphant rise through the Grandmaster ranks. Eight-year-old orphan Beth Harmon is quiet, sullen, and by all appearances unremarkable until she plays her first game of chess. Her senses grow sharper, her thinking clearer, and for the first time in her life she feels herself fully in control. By the age of sixteen, she's competing for the U.S. Open championship. But as she hones her skills on the professional circuit, the stakes get higher, her isolation grows more frightening, and the thought of escape becomes all the more tempting. (August - November)

Starting over isn't easy, especially for small-town guy John Nolan who, after a life-altering incident, is pursuing his dream of being an LAPD officer. As the force's oldest rookie, he's met with skepticism from some higher-ups who see him as just a walking midlife crisis. If he can't keep up with the young cops and the criminals, he'll be risking lives including his own. But if he can use his life experience, determination and sense of humor to give him an edge, he may just become a success in this new chapter of his life.

The black comedy will center on Becket Rothchild (LaBeouf) — the bastard child of a mother, who in eloping with a jazz musician was cast out from the Rothchild family and its vast fortune — who was never given a fair lot in life. All grown up and armed with charisma, intelligence and a flair for opportunity, it does not take long for Becket to fully grasp the immense gap between his situation and the richest 1 percent, which should be his birthright. He has a plan. There are precisely nine Rothchild family members who stand between him and his fortune, including Whitelaw (Gibson), his sinister grandfather. How hard could it be for them each to meet with an "accident"? With the unique advantage of being unknown to any of them, Becket penetrates the weird and twisted lives of his super-rich kin amongst frat boys, hipster artists and reality TV stars. The only thing that threatens to get in the way is love, both old and new.

The single-camera project is set in the 1990s and follows two high school teachers who become unlikely father figures to the kids at their Philadelphia school, the same school Adam (Sean Giambrone) graduated from. The comedy centers on Lucy Winston, a single mother of three who is given a job by her brother, Andre Glascott (Meadows) as an administrative secretary at the William Penn Academy, where her brother is the Head Of School. It's the beginning of the school year, and her brother is in a power struggle with the infinitely energetic Coach Mellor (Callen), while Lucy is trying to deal with the ups and downs of her kids adjusting to their new school. Crow plays Lucy's older daughter Felicia Winston. A rebel in Doc Martens, and she's forcibly moved from her old school (where she was on a drinks-and-drugs downward path) to her Uncle's Academy. Parker will play Lucy's younger daughter Gigi Winston, a quirky gung-ho girl. Dorky and clueless and unable to notice when the "mean girls" are making fun of her, Gigi looks forward to making friends at William Penn Academy.

Emmanuel (Em) is a successful London playwright, married to the divine Lillian for many years. Accompanied everywhere by Em's devoted manager Jimmy, who is the glue in their lives, their marriage is in a constant state of quiet crisis: without Jimmy in the mix, everything might come apart very easily. But the quiet is broken when Lillian discovers Em has been having an affair. Hurt and angry, Lillian takes herself off to a remote Greek island with a new friend, Alice. Desperate and remorseful, Em, with Jimmy in tow, follows her and this is when the tides of their relationship start to shift. Alice is young and irresistible, and her straightforward assessment of their lives gives everyone pause for thought. Leading a simple and sun-kissed existence, with only the sea and the stars to marvel at, they start to face the source of their dilemmas and find each other again.

This ensemble comedy follows a group of single parents as they lean on each other to help raise their 7-year-old kids and maintain some kind of personal lives outside of parenthood. The series begins when the group meets Will, a 30-something guy who's been so focused on raising his daughter that he's lost sight of who he is as a man. When the other single parents see just how far down the rabbit hole of PTA, parenting and princesses Will has gone, they band together to get him out in the dating world and make him realize that being a great parent doesn't mean sacrificing everything about your own identity.

The mermaid thriller is based on a story by co-writers Eric Wald and Dean White, and is set in the coastal town of Bristol Cove, known in legend as an ancient home of mermaids. The legend part changed, though, when reality set in with the arrival of the mysterious Ryn (Eline Powell), who wreaks havoc on the small fishing town. In season 2, Ben (Alex Roe) and Maddie (Fola Eving-Akingbola) are uncertain about the mermaids' future after the deadly consequences of the attack on the oil rig and, with the mermaids returning to sea, are left feeling lost without Ryn. Once Helen (Rena Owen) learns she's not the only one of her kind, she discovers there is a dark side to her people's past.

At a critical point in the global warming crisis, the world's top scientists tried to apply a permanent solution. They failed. The entire world was frozen over, leaving Earth unlivable and completely still, save for the eternal engine: Snowpiercer. Aboard the hulking, relentless train exists an entire ecosystem, the last of the human race trying to survive. Thrust into a caste system are the poor and starving occupants of the tail end, separated from the more privileged life available to those in the front. And such a delicate environment could descend into chaos the moment something goes wrong.

Living in a small Florida town and working at a diner was never Arielle's (Thorne) dream life. She's always wanted more. Fame. Popularity. Admiration. When she falls for a recently paroled young criminal named Dean, she drags him back into a life of danger, learning that posting their criminal exploits on social media is an easy way to viral fame. Obsessed with their rising number of followers, they embark on a dangerous adventure together that leads to robbery, cop chases and even murder. Heading to Hollywood, the City of Stars, they will realize what it takes to become famous and have to decide if this dangerous lifestyle is really worth it.

The remarkable story of Katherine of Aragon, Princess of Spain, daughter of two great monarchs, and eventual Queen of England when she marries the infamous King Henry VIII. Daughter of Queen Isabella and King Ferdinand of Spain, Katherine has been fated her whole life to marry Prince Arthur of England. When they meet and are married, the match becomes as passionate as it is politically expedient. The young lovers revel in each other's company and plan the England they will make together. But tragically, aged only fifteen, Arthur falls ill and extracts from his sixteen-year-old bride a deathbed promise to marry his brother, Henry; become Queen; and fulfill their dreams and her destiny. Widowed and alone in the avaricious world of the Tudor court, Katherine has to sidestep her father-in-law's desire for her and convince him, and an incredulous Europe, that her marriage to Arthur was never consummated, that there is no obstacle to marriage with Henry. For seven years, she endures the treachery of spies, the humiliation of poverty, and intense loneliness and despair while she waits for the inevitable moment when she will step into the role she has prepared for all her life. Then, like her warrior mother, Katherine must take to the battlefield and save England when its old enemies the Scots come over the border and there is no one to stand against them but the new Queen.

The series centers on four strangers in an immigration detention centre in the Australian desert. They are an airline hostess escaping a suburban cult, an Afghan refugee fleeing persecution, a young Australian father escaping a dead-end job and a bureaucrat caught-up in a national scandal. When their lives intersect they are pushed to the brink of sanity, yet unlikely and profound emotional connections are made amongst the group. Inspired by real events, the series intertwines gripping and devastating personal stories revealing a system struggling with the irreconcilable contradictions of border protection.

Garrett Modi was living the American Dream. As the youngest New York City Councilman ever, he was rubbing elbows with the political elite, attending star-studded parties and was the pride of Queens. But instead of spending his time in office helping the people that got him elected, he lost his way amidst the power and glamour of politics. When his downward spiral got him busted for public intoxication (and downright stupidity), it was all caught on tape and ended his career. Now, Garrett's crashing with his sister, Mallory, and wondering where it all went wrong. That is, until he's hired by a diverse group of hopefuls who dream of becoming American citizens and believe he can help – giving him a new sense of purpose and a chance for redemption, as long as he remembers where he came from.

An action-adventure drama based on the DC character Kara Zor-El, Superman's (Kal-El) cousin who, after 12 years of keeping her powers a secret on Earth, decides to finally embrace her superhuman abilities and be the hero she was always meant to be. Twelve-year-old Kara escaped the doomed planet Krypton with her parents' help at the same time as the infant Kal-El. Protected and raised on Earth by her foster family, the Danvers, Kara grew up in the shadow of her foster sister, Alex, and learned to conceal the phenomenal powers she shares with her famous cousin in order to keep her identity a secret. Years later, Kara was living in National City and still concealing her powers, when a plane crash threatened Alex's life and Kara took to the sky to save her. Now, Kara balances her work as a reporter for CatCo Worldwide Media with her work for the Department of Extra-Normal Operations (DEO), a super-secret government organization whose mission is to keep National City - and the Earth - safe from sinister threats. At the DEO, Kara works for J'onn J'onzz, the Martian Manhunter, and alongside her sister, Alex, and best friend, Winn Schott. Also in Kara's life are media mogul Cat Grant, James Olsen (Brooks), a photo journalist who moonlights as Guardian, a masked vigilante, Lena Luthor, and Mon-El of Daxam, whose planet was ravaged by Krypton's destruction. As Kara struggles to navigate her relationships and her burgeoning life as a reporter, her heart soars as she takes to the skies as Supergirl to fight crime. (June 27 - April 9)

The dramedy is made up of a unique ensemble of characters all born on the same day. Ventimiglia will play Jack, who's described as easy-going and happily married to Rebecca, played by Moore. The couple just moved into their new home in Pittsburg and is on the verge of welcoming triplets. Hartley is Kevin, a handsome and successful television actor with an underlining boredom in his ultimate bachelor life. The final episodes of Season 3 saw Kate (Chrissy Metz) and Toby (Chris Sullivan) welcome their baby months early, Randall (Sterling K. Brown) and Beth (Susan Kelechi Watson) in the worst fight of their relationship and Kevin (Justin Hartley) relapsing and starting to drink again, and breaking up with Beth's cousin Zoe (Melanie Liburd) over their different stances about having children.

When the story opens, Dr. Jennifer White’s best friend, Amanda, has been killed, and four fingers surgically removed from her hand. Dr. White is the prime suspect and she herself doesn’t know whether she did it. Told in White’s own voice, fractured and eloquent, a picture emerges of the surprisingly intimate, complex alliance between these life-long friends—two proud, forceful women who were at times each other’s most formidable adversaries. As the investigation into the murder deepens and White’s relationships with her live-in caretaker and two grown children intensify, a chilling question lingers: is White’s shattered memory preventing her from revealing the truth or helping her hide it?

Twenties follows the adventures of a queer black girl, Hattie (Gibbs), and her two straight best friends, Marie (Elmore) and Nia (Graham), who spend most of their days talking shit and chasing their dreams. It’s a show about friendship, finding love, and messing everything up along the way. Not one to sweat the small stuff — like being evicted — Hattie doesn’t let much faze her, and when in doubt or trouble, she turns to her best friends, Nia (Graham) and Marie (Elmore), for help. She’s a lesbian who always falls for straight women. Out of cash and desperate for a break, Hattie interviews with Ida B. (Brown), a successful African American television writer/producer who calls her out on some shady tweets she made some years prior. But when Ida B. offers Hattie a job as a writer’s PA, Hattie may finally have her foot planted firmly on the ladder of Hollywood success. (July 9 - August 23)

For millennia an undetected alien race has come to earth and assimilated themselves into mainstream society. They helped the world keep a firm hand on the tiller of our eco-system and ensured human nature didn't destroy the planet. A cabal of nation states and conglomerates agreed these do-gooders weren't good for business. They hunted them down, narrowing their scope to a handful of hotspots around the globe. Their gateways uncovered, a fresh way of intercepting the alien upon arrival was instigated. Hidden away from prying eyes, in the rainy, emerald climes of a Northern England forest, one such alien hotspot exists. Uberman is the tale of how Ellis Blackmore escapes this nefarious process in the 21st century. Ellis wakes up in a bivouac by a tree with a yellow ribbon tied around its trunk. He's unaware of what he is, let alone his reason for being here. The dog tag around his neck will inform who ever finds him of his name. Ellis's instinct to survive kicks in as he adapts quickly to his new surroundings and conditions. He finds shelter in what appears to be an abandoned trailer park – this is Shackville and it's no accident he's found his way here. He finds the strangest bedfellows to satisfy his companionship needs: Jean, the occasionally racist hippie, her soccer mad son, Bradley and repressed homosexual libertarian Steve. This triumvirate of local charm and eccentricity are in fact his government sponsored, surrogate family for the next week of intense reintegration. (September 18 - October 8)

The Unicorn, inspired by a true story, centers on a recent widower (Goggins) who is eager to move on from the most difficult year of his life, only to realize he's utterly unprepared to raise his two daughters on his own and equally unprepared for the dating world — where, to his shock, he's suddenly a hot commodity. Goggins' character, a devoted father to two adolescent girls, is a big-hearted open-book of a guy, but without his wife, he's finding himself at sea. When his friends persuade him to start dating again, he discovers to his shock that he's kind of a hot commodity... if only he knew what the heck he was doing.

A profoundly realistic, multi-cultural family sitcom that shows how, when two people with young children and overzealous extended families truly love each other, barely anything is possible. Curtin will play Bill’s extremely judgmental mother, who went through a health scare two years ago. Bill and Jo did the right thing and took her in, then Sandy miraculously recovered and never left. Sandy doesn’t understand the challenges of modern parenting, yet she weighs in on everything that Bill and Jo do to let them know it’s wrong. The only thing that’s great for Bill is that Sandy will criticize Jo in a way he agrees with, but is too scared to admit. On the other hand, Sandy will criticize Bill in a way Jo agrees with, and that sucks for Bill.

Dan and Jeanine are your typical married couple: they spend more time on their phones than with each other. Even their daughter’s best friend is her iPad. But after attending the funeral of his friend Juan, Dan convinces Jeanine to do the unthinkable: unplug from technology for an entire weekend by visiting a remote mountain town. It’s a “digital detox” to save their marriage and their sanity. What starts out as a quiet getaway without their phones quickly turns into a hysterical disaster. Without Google Maps to guide them or social media to stave off their boredom, Dan and Jeanine find they have to reconnect to each other and the outside world in order to make it home.

A story of an unusual family formed through extreme odds, exploring such hot-button issues as identity, human connection and what it truly means to be a family. An only child finds her life turned upside down when her father reveals that, over the course of his prize-winning career as a pioneering fertility doctor, he used his own sperm to conceive upwards of a hundred children, including two new sisters. As these three young women slowly embrace their new reality, they will attempt to form an untraditional bond as sisters, even as they must welcome a tidal wave of new siblings into their rapidly expanding family.

An ancient artifact, a unique pendulum board, which once belonged to Naga Soth a powerful Wicca Queen; has been stolen from Louisiana State Museum. Emily and her fiancé Christian have put their finances and hopes together to transform an old carriage house into a charming cafe. But when Emily, who has recently recovered from substance abuse, finds the abandoned Witchboard, she trades her old addictions for a new one. The artifact holds a powerful attraction over Emily that will drive her beyond her wildest nightmares and past the gateway of death itself. In his attempts to help Emily and understand her obsession with the Witchboard, Christian enlists the help of Alexandra Sadrine, an expert in Old World Wiccan practices. Sadrine is an eccentric and unrepentant hedonist, who takes great pleasure in introducing Christian to a Coven of White Witches on the eve of a unique celebration at his family mansion. The coven take a special interest in Emily's connection to the Witchboard...but the help they give Emily is more likely to raise the spirit of the dark Queen of Wicca, than return Emily to her sanity.
